KHACHAPURI

ცომეული

This is one of those dishes, that will lighten your mood with it's genius simplicity. Home-made dough and georgian cheese, made by local farmers by special georgian recipe – these are the main ingredients of the traditional khachapuri. Khachapuri is different in each region of Georgia: in Imeretian region, they bake khachapuri round. In Megrelian region they put cheese not only inside, but on the top as well. In Adjarian region, which is by the sea, khachapuri is really special – it is boat shaped with cheese and an egg yolk, which symbolizes the setting sun.

ARTGHVINO KVEVRI WINES

ქვევრის ღვინო არტღვინო

These wines are produced using age old Georgian winemaking technique, which in 2013 was included in the representative list of the intangible cultural heritage of humanity. Kvevri wines ferment and mature naturally in clay (kvevri) pots under the ground. This method gives Artghvino wines it's distinct taste and aroma. Grapes for this wine come from the so-called tsarapis zone, which is a philosophy of growing grapes just as nature intended – no additional water, fertilizers or other chemicals, meaning the harvest depends solely on the weather conditions of that particular season.
